PARENT GUIDE

SUMMER CAMP 2024

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Overnight summer camp is an experience that provides great benefits to youth and teens. As a state licensed, ACA accredited YMCA camp, we look forward to offering our campers a positive outdoor summer experience. We realize you have many choices when selecting summer activities for your child and we thank you for considering YMCA Camp MacLean.

You have our promise that the physical and emotional welfare of your child drives our decision-making process. The practices outlined in this guide have been created with this commitment in mind. There are questions that you may ask yourself as you choose a camp and prepare your child for time away from home:

What should we pack, can I visit my child, what health and safety practices does the camp follow, how are public health emergencies managed, can I send packages, what if my child is homesick? We have prepared this guide to help answer some of these important questions.

While this guide cannot be comprehensive enough to answer every question, we have picked topics that we think you want to know the most about. If you have questions that are not answered in our materials, please contact the camp office at 262-763-7742 or campmaclean@ymcachicago.org

Sincerely,

YMCA Camp MacLean Directors

HISTORY

In 1939, The M. Haddon MacLean Family made a generous gift to the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago in memory of their son, John Bartlett MacLean. This gift led to the creation of YMCA Camp MacLean, and in 1941, the very first group of youth began a summer tradition that carries on to this day. Located on approximately 160 acres of woodland and prairie fields in southeast Wisconsin, Camp MacLean is fortunate to provide youth and teens with the natural environment to foster skills that will serve him or her well into the future. 2024 will be our 82nd year of summer camp.

One of the core missions of camp and the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, is character development with a focus on helping youth develop Spirit/mind/body. An overnight camp experience helps youth and teens further develop the life skills needed to be successful in key areas of life, to include family, school, work, and peer relationships.

CAMP GOALS AND PHILOSOPHY

Our mission is to provide campers the opportunity to develop self-esteem & confidence, engage in small groups, create friendships, learn beneficial life skills, develop character, and provide unique activities that children & teens may only have a chance to do at camp.

To fit a wide range of budgets and schedules, parents can choose from camp sessions ranging from four days to two weeks in length. We find that two weeks at camp offers youth the opportunity to build relationships, achieve goals and develop life skills beyond what can be accomplished in a shorter length of time. However, we also offer many one-week options or shorter length stays for families who are not yet comfortable with a two-week session. The camp schedule can be found in the registration form, online brochure or on our website.

We strive to make camp a fun, active, life-learning experience for all our campers. The camp mission is achieved by providing challenging, fun activities such as swimming, climbing, boating, kayaking, sports, arts and crafts, archery, hiking, tent camping, and much more.

By giving campers a choice in his/her activities and through cabin life, we provide an environment for campers to experience independence while also being supervised. This is what makes camp a successful tool for the overall development of a child. We encourage parents to remind campers that the counselors and staff are available to help guide them through the camp experience and that at any time they need assistance they should seek out a staff member.

Camp also provides parents with time away from the day-to-day challenges of parenting. We encourage parents to take advantage of this mini-break and to enjoy the time your child is at camp. Children often come home from camp excited that they were able to navigate the "camp world" using the life skills you have instilled upon them and are eager to move onto more advanced experiences as they get older.

CAMP MACLEAN STAFF

The foundation of our camp program is the staff and counselors. Our full-time staff team is comprised of five directors/managers who combined have 75+ years of summer camp experience. Our five directors oversee & manage all aspects of our operations, facilities, food service and programs. Jeff Tremmel, our executive director, is in his 37th summer as a member of the Camp MacLean staff and has served as a full-time director since 1993. Rona Roffey, our Director of Camp Programs has been a full-time resident camp director with the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago for 32 years. Kristy Hamilton is our group services program director at Camp MacLean. Kristy comes to us from YMCA Camp Carson in Indiana and is in her first summer camp season at Camp MacLean. Jeff, Rona, and Kristy live on-site year-round and are available to support campers & parents.

We maintain a 1:5 overall staff to camper ratio. Counselors live in the cabin with campers. Each cabin group has a college-age, senior counselor. Counselors are carefully chosen for their maturity, judgment, experience, and desire to work with children. Some cabin groups also have a junior counselor. Junior counselors are high school seniors who are graduates of Camp MacLean's two-year Counselor-in-training program.

We understand that parents put tremendous trust in us. Our hiring protocols are designed to ensure that we are worthy of this trust. These protocols include annual background checks, advanced child safety training, and thorough reference checks. Our camp counselors are required to attend nine-day long training sessions prior to the arrival of campers. Our counselors agree to work within a framework of policies and practices that are designed to ensure a healthy camp community.

HEALTH, WELFARE, SECURITY AND MEDICATION

The emotional and physical wellbeing of our campers is the single factor that directors and staff consider when it comes to our actions and our decision-making process. Camp MacLean is accredited by the American Camp Association (ACA). This accreditation ensures that camp is putting into practice the highest standards and protocols set by and for the camping industry. All our activities operate under time tested policies and procedures. Staff members live in the cabins with the campers and are trained in emergency and security procedures prior to the start of camp. Camp is a private facility. Parents and/or guardians must show a photo ID before they take their child off camp property. Directors are in constant communication with the nurse, supervisors, lakefront staff and other activity areas. Fire/severe storm/emergency drills occur on the first day of each session. Camp MacLean consults with the Racine County Dept. of Emergency Management and the Racine County Sheriff Dept. regarding emergency preparedness.

Healthcare personnel live on site and are available 24 hours. The camp maintains a well-equipped infirmary with restrooms and separate living quarters. We hire registered nurses licensed through the State of Wisconsin or other state approved agencies. Each camp session has at least one RN assigned to live on site for the duration of the program.

Each camper is required to have a health history on file prior to arrival at camp. The health history is completed online via your camp registration account. We request that each camper have on file a form completed by your child's physician. This form is available on our website and will also be provided in our confirmation packet upon enrolling. It is important that the form filled out by the physician's office is signed by the physician. We do not require that campers undergo a physical exam by their physician before attending camp. However, physicians may require that a child undergo a physical before they will complete our form.

Parents must also provide us with a signed “Terms & Conditions” form and a Facility Waiver found as part of the registration process. If a camper has a chronic health issue, serious illness, or a medical emergency while at camp, the camp nurse or a full-time director will notify a parent. The healthcare staff works closely with local physicians at the Burlington Clinic. The clinic and Burlington Memorial Hospital are seven minutes from camp and are operated by Aurora/Advocate Health Care.

The camp health care staff keeps a variety of over-the-counter medications and health supplies on hand to treat common health concerns. All medications and/or supplements brought to camp whether they are over the counter, prescriptions, or vitamins, must be in the original container and/or packaging. Our camp nurses cannot distribute medication that is stored in pillboxes or plastic bags. This includes vitamins.

Apart from asthma inhalers and epi-pens, all medications are to be under lock and key at the health station and dispensed at the times indicated. If your child has an emergency inhaler or an epi-pen, he or she may hold onto that medicine during their time at camp. All campers must turn medications over to the nurse on the first day of camp.

For the safety of all, the camp nurse cannot dispense medication if it is not on the camper’s health history form(s). Campers and staff cannot bring CBD products to camp. This is not the same as FDA approved CBD medication.

Managing infectious diseases is not new to us at camp and as such, we have instituted general hygiene and health practices throughout the years that lower the chance of large outbreaks. Our practices include frequent handwashing, daily health checks, nurse office hours, annual standing orders, cabin checks, and set dining hall procedures. We also communicate with our local health department on a regular basis.

CAMPER BEHAVIOR EXPECTATIONS

We strive to make camp a positive atmosphere for children and teens. In addition to general camp rules and guidelines, each cabin group works with the counselors to establish rules for their small group. Camp rules are generally very similar to what kids might encounter at home and school (i.e. no bullying others, no fighting/hazing, listen to counselors, respect other people and their property, no foul language or swearing, look out for one another and so on). Since most campers want to be at camp, we find that they are self-motivated to follow the camp rules. The counselors meet one on one with campers that act out in contrary to camp rules. In some cases, the situation might require the involvement of the counselor's supervisor or camp director(s).

We prefer to work with our campers and not dismiss campers from camp early. However, some situations may require us to send a camper home if their behavior consistently goes against the camp rules, is illegal, unmanageable, if they endanger themselves, if they put others in danger or if the camper requires an undue amount of attention from one or more staff members. While we keep parents informed of behavior issues, some situations may require us to dismiss a camper without prior communication with the parents. Camp MacLean reserves the right to dismiss campers without prior parent notification. Campers that purposely choose not to turn in cell phones or internet-based devices risk dismissal from camp without notice. Please do not ask your child to hide cell phones or devices from camp staff. Campers are not to bring or use weapons, tobacco, vaping devices, alcoholic beverages, CBD products or recreational drugs of any kind and in any form.

In the rare instance your child is dismissed from camp for behavioral reasons, parents are required to pick up their child within five hours of being notified. Parents must have an emergency contact available to pick up their child from camp if the parents are more than five hours away from camp. The camp executive director is the sole decider on whether to extend the five-hour pick up rule.

PREPARING FOR CAMP; MINIMIZING HOMESICKNESS

If your child is a first-time camper, we recommend you and your child attend one of our camp webinars held in the spring. Reviewing the camp website or online brochure with your child and involving them in preparing for camp makes for a smooth transition.

Homesickness is not an illness but rather a normal, common, emotional experience for children at camp, especially if it is their first visit. Homesickness usually subsides when campers become more comfortable with their surroundings. On average, most kids at camp will self-manage any anxiety or homesickness on their own within 24-36 hours. There are many techniques we employ with our campers to minimize the anxiousness they may experience from being away at camp. Campers are kept busy & active; the program is structured and full of activity from sunrise until sundown. Campers are encouraged to develop friendships with other campers. We keep an average of 1:5 staff to camper ratio. This ratio allows campers to have quality time with their counselors. Counselors provide campers with a positive and supportive atmosphere.

Our approach is that camp is a good place for kids to learn how to deal with the emotions linked to being away from home. Experience shows that having a child call home to talk with parents makes the situation worse. Because many kids will experience some homesickness at camp, we only notify parents if it becomes unmanageable. One way to try to limit the severity of homesickness is for parents to remind kids how much fun they will have at camp and how many new friends they will make. Remind your child not to worry about family back at home, encourage them to go out and have a good time! Please do not promise your child that they can call home as this will lower their ability to acclimate to camp.

VISITING CAMP AND CAMPER TRANSPORTATION

Campers may travel to and from camp via bus or by car with a parent or authorized adult. Except in cases where a camper is to depart early from a camp session, there will be no visitors allowed on site while campers are on camp. Only the executive director can authorize exceptions to this rule. If you pick up your child early from a session, please check-in at the main office upon your arrival. For all camp pickups, you will need to present a photo ID.

We will be offering chartered motorcoach bus service like in years past. We encourage parents to use the charter bus service that departs from the Chicago area YMCA's. We have found that this is an easier way for parents to transition their children into overnight camp.

If our bus service is not practical, parents can choose to drop off or pick up their child. If you choose to drop off your child at camp, our check-in procedure is designed to help campers and parents feel comfortable with their surroundings. Parents may tour around the camp facilities during check-in, but selecting and setting up your child's bed will be done with your child's counselor and cabin mates once all parents have departed. We will send a separate, specific packet out to all campers and their families regarding pick-up and drop-off times, transportation etc. later in the spring. Bus service is included in the camp fee and does not cost extra.

If you would like to visit and tour our facility prior to the beginning of summer camp, you have two options: 1) Visit us during our spring open house on Sunday, April 21st from 1 to 5 pm. 2) Private tours are available by appointment only Monday through Friday between 8 am and 6 pm. Reservations for private tours are required; please contact the camp office to set up a private tour. We do not conduct private tours on weekends.

PARENTS & CAMP DIRECTORS

As camp directors, we understand that sending a child away from home for an extended period is a unique and at times stressful experience for parents. We also understand that you are relinquishing control and security to the camp staff and placing a level of trust in us that is not found in other settings. We take this trust very seriously and manage our operations in accordance with state codes and ACA standards. We also utilize a method called "Parent in the chair". This simply means that when we make decisions in camp, we always keep parents in mind and if the parent would be sitting in a chair watching us work, they would be proud of the decision-making process. We cannot communicate every single issue or decision involving every camper, but we will always make decisions based on what a reasonable parent would expect.

Camp directors will always call a parent if the situation they are managing is of a serious nature or a situation that requires parental support. Parents may always call camp and ask to speak or check in with a director. These calls should occur between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. but messages may be left 24/7 and directors will reply as soon as they are able to do so. Camp directors live on site. Camp directors do not text parents or reply to parent texts. Emails and phone calls are the best communication tool for the parent/camp director relationship.

We understand that parents will miss their child and be anxious. We assure you that the YMCA takes your child's well being seriously and that the risks at camp are managed in the same way most parents manage risks, always keeping the child's well-being at the forefront. We advise that parents use caution by telling your child how much you will miss them. Anxiousness from a parent will transfer to a child. The camp director's job is very difficult if a parent tells a child that they can call home if they miss their parents or they want to come home. Camp directors rarely if ever dismiss a child for homesickness as with proper time, the overwhelming vast majority of kids acclimate to camp fully by the end of 24 to 72 hours, depending upon the child. Telling a child that you will call them or they can call home, does not provide the child the space to acclimate to camp. This will be our 82nd summer whereas children at camp do not have open access to office phones, pay phones and in today's world, cell phones. While this may be a weird concept to grasp, it is actually a very positive aspect for all involved and the reason camp is successful. Letting your child have space to live and practice on their own what you have taught them is a very positive and valuable experience and one that will serve them well as they get older. There are exceptions that directors make when it comes to phone calls and while not a common occurrence, directors have the authority to approve parent/child phone calls.

We encourage parents to enjoy the time away from parenting when their child is at camp. Even if one has other kids at home, families benefit from quieter households for short periods of time. If you choose to travel out of the local area while your child is at camp, please notify the camp directors. This helps the directors with communication. Parents who travel internationally while their child is at camp must notify the directors prior to travel. We encourage parents to call camp directors prior to camp if they have questions about the summer program.

COMMUNICATION, MAIL AND CARE PACKAGES

Campers love mail. It is a fun way for them to stay connected with their parents. We encourage limiting mail to a couple letters per session so as to not overwhelm the camper. Written communication is the ideal form that works best in a camp setting. We offer three options for parents to connect with their campers: 1) regular mail (preferred) 2) Bunk1 BunkNotes 3) Fax 262-763-9944. Please write your child's full name on the fax. All Bunk1 BunkNotes and fax letters are treated like private mail and distributed directly into the cabin mailbox. You do not need to write cabin names on mail. You will receive more information about Bunk1 BunkNotes in late spring. For 2024, Camp MacLean has eliminated Bunk1 BunkReply.

Campers cannot use office phones to talk with parents. Camp directors may make exceptions for unique, special circumstances. We highly discourage in person or phone communication while children attend camp, as it does not allow campers to manage effectively the emotions experienced in being away from home. Early in the camp session, parents may receive letters or postcards from your child indicating that they are sad or homesick. This is very common. Letters often become better as the session progresses. You may want to send self-addressed, stamped envelopes with your child to promote letter writing. Keep in mind that the tone of the letter makes a difference. Keep letters light-hearted and friendly. Anxious letters from parents or siblings may cause an undue amount of stress on campers. You are welcome to bring "pre-written" letters for each day and drop off at check in with the camp staff. The staff will be sure to distribute the letters daily. Care packages are allowed. While snacks are permitted, we ask that you do not send snacks with peanuts/tree nuts. Soda is not allowed in the camp; we recommend you do not ship beverages.

When mailing letters or packages, please use the following format:

TECHNOLOGY AND CELL PHONES

Camp is a unique community-based environment. Youth camping and camping in general, has always been, and continues to be, grounded in the idea that leaving the hustle and bustle of the world behind for a simpler setting is not only healthy but provides us the room to relax. The success of camp relies on connection to the natural world and a firm understanding that face-to-face communication and full attention between community members is fundamentally important. The technological advances that we have been blessed with over the years compete with this philosophy. While technology is critically valuable, youth and teens are not fully developed adults and as such need time to develop skills that are not achievable through technology and are often taken for granted (i.e., face- to-face human interaction & dialogue, conflict resolution, community building, self-reflection etc.)

Due to this philosophy, the structure of our program, the number of youths in attendance, and several other reasons, office phones, cell phones, tablets, smart watches (i.e. apple watches), and other internet-based devices are not available to campers. Do not send your child to camp with a cell phone, ask your child to hide a cell phone from camp staff or promise them that they can call home. We will ask all campers to turn in any cell phone they happened to bring and other such devices on the first day of camp. These items will be collected, stored in a safe location, and returned to campers when they depart camp. Cell phones take away from the camp experience and do not allow children and teens the ability to acclimate to camp. If a child does not turn in their phone for any reason, he or she may be dismissed from camp without warning. We highly encourage parents to gradually reduce the time your child spends with technology a week or so prior to coming to camp so that they do not go from full use to no use. This abrupt change is hard for youth.

In addition to smartphones etc., campers cannot keep any device that can access the internet. Campers will be asked to turn in these items on the first day of camp. These items will be returned to the child at the end of the camp session. Any exception to this rule can only be granted by the executive director of the camp.

CABIN ASSIGNMENTS/FRIENDS

Campers are assigned to cabin groups prior to the start of the session. Assignments are based on age, gender, and program. Cabins are assigned based on what gender the parent(s) indicate on the registration form. Per YMCA policy, campers are free to enroll in camp regardless of their gender identity. To ensure the most effective care, in the event of illness or injury, we encourage parents to indicate on the health form, the child's biological sex.

Many kids go to camp on their own, without knowing other campers thus, the program is designed to foster new friendships. Going to camp with a friend is not uncommon. If the friend is the same age or one age/grade apart, they will be placed together in the same cabin unless a parent indicates otherwise. There is a space on the registration form to list friends. We cannot honor the request if campers are two or more years apart in age. If a buddy request is not honored, you may not be notified in advance. Age limits set for programs are set and managed solely by the camp directors. While we try to honor requests for certain counselors, we cannot guarantee such assignments.

We also cannot honor requests for cabins. Cabins are typically grouped by the following ages (Exceptions are determined by the camp director):

- 7 and 8 years old
- 9 and 10 years old
- 11 and 12 years old
- 13 and older

FOOD SERVICE

Meals are a very important part of camp and Camp MacLean has a strong history of providing quality food to our campers and staff. Our food service manager takes great pride in serving well-balanced, nutritious, and filling meals. Campers will find plenty to choose from at each meal. Meals are served family style. Each cabin group sits together, with their counselor(s). Meals last about 45-minutes, so campers have time to relax, eat and socialize with their friends. Camp never runs out of food for children to eat. However, because we serve family style and a kid friendly menu, some side dishes or entrees run out but always leaving other foods available. For example, bacon is popular and most people take several servings and then we have none left after 15 - 20 minutes, but other foods like eggs, yogurt, cereal fruit are still available. Never does camp not have food.

If your camper has severe food allergies or restrictions, please list the details in the online health care portal of your child's account or touch base with the camp food service director. Our food service department makes accommodations for children with food allergies or restrictions. While outside food from home is not allowed in the dining hall; we may make an exception in cases where we find there is no better alternative. In all cases, this exception must be cleared by a full-time camp director. Camp MacLean does have procedures in place regarding tree nut and peanut allergies. A copy of our peanut, tree nut & shellfish allergen procedures can be requested by email or phone: campmaclean@ymcachicago.org or 262-763-7742

BIRTHDAYS

Many campers celebrate their birthday while at Camp MacLean. Camp provides a birthday cake and special recognition for those celebrating a birthday at camp.

PACKING, LOST AND FOUND, LAUNDRY

We have provided you with a packing list in this Parent Guide that recommends what your camper should bring to camp based upon how long they are staying with us. We encourage campers to bring clothes that can get dirty. Soft-sided luggage works well. Parents are encouraged to mark their camper's belongings with a name. During camp, lost items are gathered and throughout the week, we take time to return items. Any items left behind at camp will be returned if identified. Campers are responsible for their own belongings. We will hold all items left at camp for one month. We do our best to locate and return lost items. However, we will not reimburse families for lost clothing or other items brought to camp. Items are donated to local not-for profit agencies after one month.

Campers need to bring enough clothing to last the entire session. If campers enroll for multiple sessions, they must take clothing home to be washed on break weekends. The camp does not provide routine laundry service. Laundry service is reserved for those with health issues, bedwetting, emergencies etc.

SWIMMING, BOATING AND SWIM ATTIRE

All campers will take a lake swim evaluation on the first day of camp. The purpose of the swim evaluation is to evaluate campers' skill and endurance in water so that they can be assigned to the proper water activities. Beginning and intermediate swimmers will have swimming activities to improve their swimming ability. Advanced swimmers will be able to sail, canoe, kayak, and windsurf. Beginning swimmers can use rowboats & paddleboats so long as they are with a staff member. Intermediate swimmers can use rowboats, open kayaks and pedal boats independently.

All campers and staff wear life jackets when using any type of boat. Certified lifeguards supervise aquatic activities. No water activities happen without lifeguards in place and ready.

The swim evaluation is as follows:

- Advanced swim evaluation: equal to five pool lengths, multiple strokes required, water depth 10 feet, and tread water for 60 seconds.
- Intermediate swim evaluation: equal to two pool lengths, two strokes required, water depth 7 feet, and tread water for 30 seconds.

Everyone who swims during their stay at camp must be swim evaluated. We ask that female campers wear one-piece bathing suits or modest two-piece suits. Camp staff reserve the right to require campers to acquire swimwear more conducive to a camp environment.

SPIRITUALITY & CAMP

The YMCA was founded on the idea that developing the spirit, mind and body creates a well-rounded individual. Camping is a long-practiced YMCA tradition. Therefore, spirituality is an important component of camp. We have campers and staff from every major religious faith. Our purpose is not to change or instill upon campers any specific faith or belief. Our goal is to make every camper feel comfortable while still including the traditions of the YMCA (Young Men's Christian Association). These traditions help foster character development and creativity in all people and commitment to think of others when it comes to our individual thoughts and actions. Grace is part of each meal, a thought for the day is held after breakfast and a non-denominational chapel service is held on Sundays when camp is in session. In addition, each cabin has a short devotion held before lights out.

BEDWETTING

We encourage campers to use the washhouse throughout the day. If a camper needs to go to the washroom in the middle of the night, he/she must notify a staff member. However, from time-to-time bedwetting occurs. Staff members are trained to deal with bedwetting. First, measures are taken not to embarrass the camper. The sleeping bag and/or sheets/blankets will be cleaned and returned to the bed as quickly as possible. Preventative measures such as frequent bathroom breaks and limiting heavy fluid intake after supper work well. All campers have a bathroom break before bedtime. If you have bedwetting concerns or questions, please contact the director at the camp.

THE CAMP STORE

We will have a camp store option available for the campers. Camp provides campers with the opportunity to purchase snacks, apparel, and souvenirs. Campers should not bring cash to camp. Spending money is deposited into a camper's store account via our online registration program. Credit cards are charged at the time they are entered into the system. At the end of the camp session, the leftover funds are refunded to the credit card that was used on the account.
